How we categorise our work

We categorise our work based on the complexity of the estate. We use four main categories:

- Simple
- Standard
- Complex
- Specialist

The category an estate will fall into will largely depend on the value of the estate, type of assets, the Inheritance Tax position and whether there are any complicating factors such as there being no will (Intestacy) or assets in foreign countries. It also takes into account the work involved.

We further sub-divide into different levels. The most straightforward estate we deal with is Simple Level 1 and the most complex is Specialist Level 3.

This pricing guide is intended as a guide only. Each estate is unique and we will confirm the category and level before we start work.

Simple Estates

Only excepted estates can be considered to be a simple estate. If the estate is not excepted, we would not consider it to be a simple estate. It is important to note that we do not consider all excepted estates to be simple estates as there are other factors that may increase the complexity.

An example of an excepted estate would be an estate where the gross value of the assets of the estate do not exceed £325,000 and the estate meets HMRC's definition of an excepted estate. As part of our service, we will confirm whether an estate meets the criteria for an excepted estate. As a summary, the estate of a UK domiciled person is excepted if it meets any of the following criteria:

If the person died before 31 December 2021:

The estate value is below the Inheritance Tax threshold at the time the person died.

The person that died left everything to a surviving spouse or civil partner living in the UK or to a qualifying charity and the estate is worth less than £1 million.

If the person died after 1 January 2022:

The estate value is below the Inheritance Tax threshold at the time the person died the estate is worth £325,000 or less and any unused threshold is being transferred from a spouse or civil partner who died first.

The person that died left everything to a spouse or civil partner living in the UK or to a qualifying charity and the estate is worth less than £3 million.

We sub-divide our simple estates into four levels:

Level 1

This is where a Will has been left and everything passes to a surviving spouse or civil partner. The assets consist of one property and accounts held with one or two different banks.

Example

A person died leaving a Will that leaves their entire estate to their surviving spouse. The estate consists of a house and one bank account. All assets are located in England. The estate value is £300,000.

Level 2

This is where a Will has been left and everything passes to a surviving spouse or civil partner.

Example

A person died leaving a Will that leaves their entire estate to their surviving spouse. The estate consists of a house, investments and two bank accounts. All assets are located in England. The estate value is £300,000.

Level 3

This is where there is no Will (Intestacy) or there is a Will and part or all of the estate passes to someone other than a surviving spouse or civil partner. There is one property and accounts held with one or two different banks.

Example

A person died leaving a Will. The estate is divided between the surviving spouse and their children. The estate consists of investments, bank accounts and a house. All assets are located in England. The estate value is £350,000.

Level 4

This is where there is no Will (Intestacy) or there is a Will and part or all of the estate passes to someone other than a surviving spouse or civil partner.

Example

A person died Intestate (without a Will). The deceased was widowed and their children inherit the entire estate. The estate consists of investments, bank accounts and a house. All assets are located in England. A claim for transferable Nil Rate Band is required. The estate value is £350,000.

Standard Estates

A Standard Estate is the starting point for all non-excepted estates. We also consider more complicated excepted estates to fall into this category. If an estate does not contain factors that make it complex or specialist, then it will be a standard estate.

We sub-divide our standard estates into 3 levels:

Level 1

This is usually an estate where no Inheritance Tax is due and a reduced IHT400 can be submitted. This usually applies if an estate passes entirely to a surviving spouse or charity.

There is a valid Will.

If there is a partial Intestacy or a claim made against the estate, we will consider the estate to become Level 2 even if there is a Will and all other factors make it Level 1.

Example

A person died leaving a Will. Their entire estate passes to charity. The estate consists of investments, bank accounts and a property. The deceased benefited from assets held in trust that now pass to their children. The estate value is £550,000 and the assets held in trust are valued at £300,000. There is no Inheritance Tax due. All assets are located in England.

Level 2

This is usually an estate where no Inheritance Tax is due but a full IHT400 is required. It is also the starting point for excepted estates that we do not consider to be a simple estate.

The estate will often contain investments such as AIM shares that qualify for Business Property Relief.

For excepted estates, if there are five or more beneficiaries.

If there is a claim made against the estate, we will consider the estate to become Level 3 even if all other factors make it Level 2.

Example

Non excepted estate: An unmarried person died leaving a Will. The estate passes to the deceased's children with small gifts left to charity. The estate consists of investments that qualify for Business Property Relief, bank accounts and private pensions. The estate value is £750,000. There is no Inheritance Tax due to Business Property Relief on the investments. All assets are located in England.

Excepted estate: An unmarried person died leaving a Will. The estate passes to five of their friends. The estate consists of a house and bank accounts. Spall Clark are named as executors and need to deal with matters such as arranging house clearance and valuations of contents. The estate value is £325,000. There is no Inheritance Tax due. All assets are located in England.

Level 3

This is usually an estate where Inheritance Tax is due. It also includes excepted estates which we consider to be too complex to be a simple estate.

Any assets that qualify for Business Property Relief other than AIM shares.

Assets or links to jurisdictions other than England and Wales. We would consider such an estate to be 'cross border'.

Transfers or changes to pensions during the two years prior to death.

For excepted estates, if there are eight or more beneficiaries.

Example

Non-excepted estate: A widow died leaving a Will. The estate passes to the deceased's children. The estate consists of investments, bank accounts and private pensions. The estate value is £1,100,000. All assets are located in England.

Excepted estate: An unmarried person died leaving a Will. The estate passes to ten different residuary beneficiaries including a mix of charities and friends. The estate consists of a house and bank accounts. Spall Clark are named as executors and need to deal with matters such as arranging house clearance and valuations of contents. The estate value is £400,000. There is no Inheritance Tax due as a result of charity exemption. All assets are located in England.

Complex Estates

A Complex Estate is an estate that has one or more of the following factors:

Estate value of between £1,250,000 to £2,000,000.

8 or more beneficiaries or legatees.

An interest in another estate

Quick succession relief applies

Lifetime gifts in excess of the annual exemption

A claim for more than one Transferrable Nil Rate Band is required.

We sub-divide our complex estates into 3 levels:

Level 1

This is usually an estate where no Inheritance Tax is due and a reduced IHT400 can be submitted.

There is a valid Will.

If there is a partial Intestacy or a claim made against the estate, we will consider the estate to become Level 2 even if all other factors make it Level 1.

Example

The deceased died leaving a Will. The entire estate pass to the spouse. The estate consists of bank accounts, private pensions and two properties. Assets were held in trust that now to children. The value of assets in trust amount to £300,000. The estate value is £1,400,000. There is no Inheritance Tax due. All assets are located in England.

Level 2

This is usually an estate where no Inheritance Tax is due but a full IHT400 is required.

AIM shares that qualify for Business Property Relief.

If there is a claim made against the estate, we will consider the estate to become Level 3 even if all other factors make it Level 2.

Example

The deceased died leaving a Will. There are legacies left to six grandchildren, a gift of the Residence Nil Rate Band to children and the remainder of the estate passes to the deceased's spouse. The estate consists of bank accounts, private pensions and two properties. Lifetime gifts were made in excess of the annual allowance. The estate value is £1,400,000. There is no Inheritance Tax due. All assets are located in England.

Level 3

This is usually an estate where Inheritance Tax is due.

Any assets that qualify for Business Property Relief other than AIM shares.

Assets or links to jurisdictions other than England and Wales. We would consider such an estate to be 'cross border'.

Transfers or changes to pensions during the two years prior to death.

Example

The deceased died leaving a Will. There are legacies left to six grandchildren, a gift of the Residence Nil Rate Band to children and the remainder of the estate passes to the deceased's spouse. The estate consists of bank accounts, private pensions and two properties. There is also a property in Spain. Lifetime gifts were made in excess of the annual allowance. The estate value is £1,700,000. There is no Inheritance Tax due.

Specialist Estates

A Specialist Estate is where there are factors that require specialist advice and expertise. A Specialist Estate is an estate that has one or more of the following factors:

- Estate value of £2,000,000 or greater.
- A mixture of exempt and non-exempt beneficiaries that means 'grossing up' is required.
- 16 or more beneficiaries.

- Non-domiciled or non-resident deceased or spouse/civil partner.
- There is than one business or business properties.
- Double taxation relief applies.
- Extended backwards shadow applies.

We sub-divide our complex estates into 3 levels:

Level 1

This is an estate where no Inheritance Tax is due and a reduced IHT400 can be submitted.

There is a valid Will.

If there is a partial Intestacy or a claim made against the estate, we will consider the estate to become Level 2 even if all other factors make it Level 1.

Example

The deceased died leaving a Will which leaves the entire estate to the deceased's spouse. The estate consists of bank accounts, investments, private pensions and four properties. The estate value is £3,400,000. There is no Inheritance Tax due. All assets are located in England.

Level 2

This is an estate where no Inheritance Tax is due but a full IHT400 is required.

AIM shares that qualify for Business Property Relief.

If there is a claim made against the estate, we will consider the estate to become Level 3 even if all other factors make it Level 2.

Example

The deceased died leaving a Will leaves the entire estate to their children. The estate consists of bank accounts, investments that qualify for Business Property Relief, private pensions and a property. The estate value is £2,100,000. There is no Inheritance Tax due. All assets are located in England.

Level 3

This is an estate where Inheritance Tax is due.

Any assets that qualify for Business Property Relief other than AIM shares.

Assets or links to jurisdictions other than England and Wales. We would consider such an estate to be 'cross border'.

Transfers or changes to pensions during the two years prior to death.

Example

An unmarried person died leaving a Will. There are gifts to twenty different beneficiaries including a mix of charities and individuals. The estate in England consists of investments, bank accounts, a trading business, private pension and a property. The deceased transferred their pension in the two years before they died. There is a property and bank account located in France. The estate value is £2,800,000. There is Inheritance Tax due and 'grossing up' is required for Inheritance Tax purposes.

Our services

We usually deal with the entire administration from start to finish and we are also able to deal with an application for a Grant of Representation as a standalone service. On occasion we may be to deal with additional parts of an estate administration, for example placing a Financial Asset Search or S27 Trustee Act notices.

Our solicitors who deal with Probate matters are Paul Clark^{TEP}, Melissa Howman and Natasha Yelland.

Paul is the managing director of Spall Clark Solicitors and has overall responsibility for all probate matters. He is a solicitor with 9 years post qualification experience. He is a full member of STEP and is a member of the Law Society Private Client Section advisory committee.

Melissa is a solicitor with 7 years post qualification experience.

Natasha is solicitor with 2 year post qualification experience. She is an affiliate member of STEP.

We have outlined the fees and timescales for each stage of the process below.

Grant only

We will deal with the Grant application which includes completion of the application via online portal or by post (depending on circumstances), completion of the Inheritance Tax return (if required) and all correspondence with HMRC and the Probate Registry.

The personal representatives are responsible for obtaining and verifying the information required for the grant application and for completing the remainder of the estate administration.

How long will it take (estimated timescale)?

Simple Estates

Overall we would expect a simple estate to take between eight to eleven months to complete. The stages in the administration are as follows:

Stage One – 2 to 3 months

1. Determine if there is a valid will and identify the executors and beneficiaries
2. Obtain full details of the value of all assets and liabilities of the deceased including any lifetime gifts. Often a formal value of furniture and personal effects is required but we will advise you if an estimated valuation is sufficient. Similarly, we will advise you if a valuation of a house or other property is required. Values of all jointly held assets are also needed.
3. Place a financial asset search with estate search (if required)
4. Prepare papers to apply for probate
5. Review and signing of probate papers by the personal representatives.

Stage Two – 3 to 4 months

1. Apply to the Probate Registry for probate including paying registry fees.
2. Probate is normally issued twelve weeks after the application has been submitted.

Stage Three – 2 to 3 months

1. Register the grant of representation, obtain and complete relevant account closure forms.
2. Place advertisements for statutory notices to creditors (if required).
3. Collect in bank or building society account proceeds and NS&I holdings
4. Pay funeral account, if not already released from an account earlier, and all other bills.
5. Contact Department of Works and Pensions to settle state benefits such as pensions.
6. Arrange for property to be sold or transferred

Stage Four – 1 month

1. Prepare final estate accounts for approval by the executors.
2. Once the personal representatives have approved the accounts, we will send the accounts to the beneficiaries for their approval.
3. Contact HMRC to confirm that the estate administration has been completed.
4. Make final payments to beneficiaries

All Other Estates

Overall we would expect all other estates to take between twelve and twenty months to complete. The stages in the administration are as follows:

Stage One – 2 to 3 months

1. Determine if there is a valid will and identify the executors and beneficiaries
2. Obtain full details of the value of all assets and liabilities of the deceased including any lifetime gifts. Often a formal value of furniture and personal effects is required but
